1931 was the first year of the National Trophy. It was a ground breaking event because for the first time teams in the Northern section of the Speedway Association met teams from the South in official competition. The entry was superb even attracting open licence tracks Birmingham (Hall Green), Exeter, Wombwell and York to compete.

Byes to Crystal Palace, Harringay and Wembley in Southern Section Round 1.

* The original result was Wembley 50 Wimbledon 46. Wimbledon protested Wembley's use of Shelton in heat 10. Shelton had finished second. He had been brought in to replace Greenwood. George was injured in the first run of heat 10 and it was held that his crash was not the fault of a Wimbledon rider. The use of Shelton was ruled illegal and the protest was upheld.

Huxley charged into Ormston bringing him down (Heat 13). Ormston was lying up against the fence while Huxley remounted and finished. The race was not stopped. This combined with lots of doubtful starts which were allowed to proceed led to strong criticism of the referee.
