Note: In heat 2 (Coventry's) Alan Pearce was running in third place on the final lap, when he picked drive and collided with one of the young home opponents John Edwards, who had been directly in front of him. Pearce was thrown from his bike and took a heavy fall, with his helmet taking the full impact of the track surface. The local track doctor attended the stricken unconscious rider was immediately dispatched him off to hospital without fully realising the seriousness of the accident. Sadly Pearce never regained consciousness and passed away through the night, due to the severe head injuries he had sustained in the track crash.
